Training

We have held training at least once a week during our spring and autumn term. We have usually started from KTH Hallen, where we have had the opportunity to use the dressing rooms & showers for a fee.

During the spring we managed to participate in some weekly orienteering events around the Stockholm area. The events were organized in a way that we were provided with maps that were updated with controls. The controls would be in the forest for a week, and we printed maps ourselves and paid a small fee for each map. These trainings were very appreciated among our members.

For the fall, we have continued to organize trainings with variety of location and activity. Mostly running activities such as intervals, running strength, or orienteering from KTH-Hallen, and occasionally orienteering trainings in other parts around Stockholm.

Arrangement

We have adhered to the usual classic arrangements this year.

- The camp in the archipelago in June was a good opportunity for all members to improve their orienteering skills as well as get together as a team. We were at Rånö over the weekend, lived in small cottages and managed to do both orienteering trainings and some running as well.
- This year's Lusselöpet was arranged in the middle of December and started off with an orienteering game. After the game, we continued to the sauna, followed by a Christmas fika. It was a great way to end the semester.
- We arranged an activity for the international reception in the beginning of spring and fall. For this event we arranged an introduction to orienteering on Campus with some fika after. We see that many are enthusiastic and curious about what orienteering is.
- ÖL-OL was postponed and will hopefully be arranged during spring instead.

Competition

During the Autumn we participated in the competition Pampas Night which is an orienteering competition in the form of a team sprint. We organized one team of 12 people who all enjoyed the event. After the event we enjoyed some fika together.
